BALI & JAKARTA'S BIWEEKLY ENTERTAINMENT GIG GUIDE

Get your Jazz Desserts

For anyone who needed an extra injection of live music after the mighty Java Jazz Festival in Jakarta, or for those who weren't able to make the journey, we were lucky enough to get an extra serving at the beachside venue The Phalosa in Batu Belig last Tuesday night thanks to Akasha Productions. Taking to a huge stage with an open green lawn for the crowd to dance on, bands like Jazzanova, Brian Simpson and friends, Breakestra with the mighty vocals of Beverly Johnson and local legends Rio, Balawan, and others turned the night into a funk train, proving once again that Bali is thirsty for more live international bands on the entertainment circuit. Stevie G dished out DJ sets between acts and the grooves were jammed out well into the night with plenty of improvised sessions giving music lovers a reason to stay up late, appreciating the talent.
